

2024 Provost's Teaching & Learning Grant Application Form: Interdisciplinary Teaching Initiatives

Interdisciplinary Teaching Initiatives (ITI)

The Interdisciplinary Teaching Initiatives award is designed to support faculty from different disciplines/departments/schools to work collaboratively on the design and launch of innovative teaching initiatives that will benefit undergraduate or graduate learners across two or more departments and/or schools. Awardees will receive in-kind support from the CTL and funds up to $20,000 for teams of 2-4 faculty from different departments/schools to consider, develop, and launch interdisciplinary initiatives that enhance student learning. The project must have the potential for making a significant, lasting impact across the department/school/program beyond the funding period and must be sustainable. Awardees will also commit to sharing their project as a model for changing approaches to teaching in their home departments/schools.
